GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Fires.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 27.—A fire last night destroyed the Youngstown rolling mill. The loss is over $100,000; insured for $33,000.

CINCINNATI, May 27.—The moulding and glass factory of A. J. Norris burned this morning; loss, $100,000; insurance, $10,000.

Thieving Officials.

SCRANTON, Pa., May 27.—Investigation shows $100,000 have been stolen from Luzerne county in the past seven years by dishonest officials, some of whom have already been convicted and are in prison.

An Old Editor Retires.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The Sun reports that Erastus Brooks retires from the Express June 1st. Tammany Hall owns that journal and ex-sheriff Conner will probably become editor.

Indians as Soldiers.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The Sun says Capt. MacDonald, a wealthy resident of San Francisco, is the real author of the proposal that Indians shall be employed as a military organization to be auxilary to the army. At his own expense he trained and drilled a company, representing tribes on the Pacific coast, and it was his exhibition of their proficiency as soldiers that gave the War Department its new theories in regard to the best uses to which the Indian can be put. He is an enthusiast with regard to Indian soldiery. He has written to the Secretary of the Interior embodying his views on the subject.

All Hands Discharged.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The Sun says Judge Pratt having nothing to urge against the prisoners yesterday they were discharged. The Judge was himself discharged also.

Defaulter Dead.

The Times says private letters from Peru received on Saturday announce the death of C. F. Carleton, Union Trust Co.'s defaulter in 1873. His defalcation amounted to $375,000.

Tweed.

NEW YORK, May 28.—A Herald reporter has interviewed Attorney General Fairchilds on Tweed. In answer to a query as to the probability of an early solution of the Tweed matter, the Attorney General replied—there is nothing new in the matter and not likely there will be anything of importance that will interest the press or public for some time to come.

Actress Dead.

NEW YORK, May 28.—Winetta Montague, an actress, died in Brooklyn yesterday.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Postal Affairs.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Postmasters appointed—L. Cole, Stone, Baker county, Oregon; John L. McDonald, Elma, Chehalis county, W. T.; Mrs. Isabella Booth, Little Falls, Lewis county, W. T.; Thos. Holland, Mossy Rock, Lewis county, W. T.; T. L. Calkins, Pekin, Cowlitz county, W. T.; E. Meeker, Puyallup, Pierce county, W. T.; E. J. Mallet, Tulalip, Snohomish county, W. T.

Politicians at Washington.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The World's Washington special says: Congressman Foster arrived to-day and will call on the President to-morrow. Foster does not think there is any widespread disaffection in the Republican party of his State.

Hubbell, who came here in the interest of two postmasters in Montgomery county, left for home last night.

Gov. Walker, of Virginia, reached here yesterday on a trip through the West. Walker, who is a member of the next House, finds the Republicans have generally abandoned all efforts to organize it.

Banks will have an interview with the President to-morrow regarding the appointment of some federal officials in his district.

The Russian Ministry.

The Post's Washington special says it is learned that Minister Baker's withdrawal from the Russian mission is not attributable to any personal reason or any official complaint. He was assured there would be a change made in all foreign missions, and therefore there would be no exception in his case.

Approving Morton's Letter.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The Times' Washington special says Senator Dorsey telegraphs: "Every Southern Republican ought to feel grateful for your able, exhaustive and wise letter. I believe it will be approved by all whose approval is worth having. Its effect in the South will be great in restoring confidence in the President's ability to party, which many Republicans doubted. I believe the President is acting wisely, and that your letter will strengthen his hands as nothing else could."

The New Party Scheme.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The Tribune's Washington special denies that the anti-administration party at Washington is formidable or serious. Blaine knew nothing whatever of the meeting, although several Maine men were present. Colonel N. Staples, of North Carolina, one of the Democrats from that State who called upon the President several days ago, says his visit was not intended to have any political significance whatever. His call did not last over twenty minutes. No prediction was made in his presence by Democrats, he says, that there would be established in North Carolina an administration party in opposition to the Democracy, and he knows of no such movement on the part of Democrats. He speaks of his visit to the President as an agreeable one. He says he was impressed with the idea that the President is desirous of performing the functions of his office for the best interest of the whole people regardless of sectional and party issues.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The Herald's Washington special says the air is full of vague rumors of the movement to organize a new party, and the presence in Washington just now of Senator Conkling, Simon Cameron, Congressman Foster, Gov. Hartranft, Gen. Banks and several other prominent statesmen and politicians has stirred up the curious as to the meaning of their coming here. To an interview the answer given is "business at the departments," but it is evident their presence is not regarded as accidental.

Government Timber to be Protected.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Depredations upon government timber are to be detected and punished. The old system of timber agents evidently only facilitates the robberies. Secretary Schurz, acting upon the suggestions of Commissioner Williamson, recently abolished the old system and appointed special agents instead, who bear appointments as department clerks detailed for special duty under instructions of the Commissioner, who reports to the Secretary.

MEXICO.

The Border Troubles.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Gen. Ord is here conferring with the President relative to affairs on the Mexican border. He proposes prompt and vigorous measures to repress and punish the Mexican marauders who pillage settlers in Texas and Arizona. It is urged that now is a good time to strike, even by crossing the Mexican border if necessary, because the United States owe no such forbearance to the de facto revolutionary government of Diaz that they would owe to a lawful constitutional government, seeking to establish its authority with sufficient decisiveness to be able to fulfill its obligations to neighboring States. It is well understood here that Lerdo starts soon for Mexico to reassert his rights to the Presidency. Gen. Escobedo will have charge in the field. Great confidence is felt in his capacity, activity and influence with the Mexican army. Our government is entirely satisfied that there is nothing in the stories that filibustering enterprises either on the Pacific or Atlantic, are projected as parts of the Lerdo movement. Fillibustering colonists from California may rest assured therefore that all parties in Mexico will unite with the American military forces in stamping out every such illegal adventure. It will be a fatal delusion to believe our government will wink at them. On this point our military commands are instructed unequivocally.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

The Servian Army's Pay.

BUCHAREST, May 27.—A bill proposing an issue of paper money failed to obtain the necessary majority and will be withdrawn.

Monitor Blown Up.

The following details are received of the destruction of the Turkish monitor by torpedoes: Two young Russian officers attempted to reach the monitor early in the evening with torpedoes, but were discovered and driven back by a heavy fire. At 3 o'clock in the morning they returned in two skiffs carrying a chain of small torpedoes filled with dynamite. No watch being kept on board the monitor, they securely lodged the chain across her bows. On their return they discharged the whole series of torpedoes by means of an electric battery. The vessel immediately disappeared.

A Bold Act.

BUCHAREST, May 28.—A correspondent recounts the destruction of a Turkish monitor, as follows: It was one of the most daring deeds ever recorded. Small detachments of Russian soldiers left the northern shore of the Danube in a number of small boats. The night being very dark, they managed to surround the monitor before being discovered. When finally observed by the sentinels on board, they were challenged. The Major replied in Turkish, "Friends." The Turks not being satisfied, commenced firing in the direction of Matchin, not knowing where the boats came from. During the firing several Russian soldiers plunged into the water, swam silently to the vessel and placed a torpedo in close contact with her bottom. After it had been securely fastened and the men returned to the neighboring shore, the monitor was blown into the air and all on board perished.

Mukhtar Wants Help.

VIENNA, May 27.—Mukhtar Pasha reports that additional force is required to defend the southern roads, as the Russians evidently intend to gain possession of the river Arras or Euphrates.

The Turks Compelled to Retire.

VIENNA, May 28.—Mukhtar Pasha has telegraphed to Constantinople that he would have to retire behind Erzeroum, as the passes of Soghanla and Dagh were being turned by the Russians, and his army is in danger of being cut off from Erzeroum, the Russian cavalry having already appeared on his flank.

Trouble at Jerusalem.

The Bedouins are becoming troublesome in Palestine and there is a panic at Jerusalem.

The Czar Unwell.

Since the Czar returned to St. Petersburg he has shown such excitement and uneasiness as to cause great fears for his health. He constantly expresses dissatisfaction at the meagerness of the news. This has induced his physicians to recommend his return to the army, at any rate until some decisive victories are obtained. It is not yet decided whether he will undertake the supreme command. His physicians oppose this idea.

Russian General Dead.

The Russian General Tochelokoff, who was wounded at Ardahan, is dead.

Helping Russia.

A Russian official messenger announces that the Persian Prince Mohammed Ali Meirza has entered the Russian army of the Caucasus.

Greek War Movements.

ATHENS, May 27.—The Greek Government are dispatching detachments of troops to the frontier daily. Greek soldiers have made various arrests among the bands who endeavor to cross the frontier into Turkey.

The Greek Government in Danger.

LONDON, May 28.—An Athens dispatch says the opposition expect that the government will be overthrown at the opening of parliament on Monday.

German Fleet in the Ægean Sea.

BERLIN, May 28.—The German squadron in the Ægean Sea will be increased to a dozen vessels, including four or five first class ironclads.

Turkish Home Affairs.

A Vienna correspondent says the Turkish Ministers of War and Finance have apparently tendered their resignation. The Sultan's decision is still pending.

The Grand Vizier wishes to mediate with the Chamber, and has conferred with leading members on the formation of the new cabinet. Mahmoud Damad Pasha declares in favor of unbending opposition to the Chamber.

The alarming reports about the popular demonstration in Constantinople were greatly exaggerated. There was no trace of anything like a rising. All passed off as orderly as could be expected.

WIDDIN, May 27.—The reported rise in the Balkans is officially contradicted.

Naval Fight on the Danube.

NEW YORK, May 28.—The Herald's correspondent with the Russian headquarters at Ploejesti, describes the destruction of the Turkish monitor on the Danube, and says: Four gunboats left Ibrail on the 25th, under the command of Lieut. Deubasoff. About two hours' steaming brought the Russian gunboats where the Turkish ironclads lay anchored in the stream, and without delay the signal to attack was given. Lieut. Deubasoff made an admirable disposition of his gunboats, and in the conduct of the action displayed great courage and sound judgment. Taking the lead in the advance he ran his own gunboat in between the Turkish ironclads without paying any heed to the heavy fire which the monitors opened on the approaching gunboats. Selecting the largest of the monitors, Lieut. Deubasoff ran his boat alongside and succeeded in exploding a torpedo under her side, causing a bad leak, but not damaging her sufficiently to disable her. This partial failure was, however, soon remedied by the gunboat Xenia, which had closely followed the Czarowitz, and approaching the Turkish monitor succeeded in exploding under pressure a torpedo. This brilliant action did not occupy more than 20 minutes from the moment of giving the signal to attack till the withdrawal of the Russian gunboats. During the action the Turks kept up a constant fire upon the assailants, but the aim of the filibusterers was so bad that not a single Russian was struck. The effect of the torpedo attack is likely to prove very demoralizing to the Turkish fleet in the Danube. It definitely settles the question of the value of the Turkish fleet in preventing the passage of the Danube, and will probably induce the Turkish ironclads to remove from the dangerous neighborhood of the Russian gunboats.

The Russian Fleet at Galatz.

LONDON, May 28.—A dispatch from Galatz says the Russians have measured all the vessels in the harbor here, stating they will shortly require them. Many rafts have arrived from the Sereth, all ready for bridging purposes. A large number of fresh troops are expected soon.

Turkish Fleet at Crete.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 28.—The Turkish fleet is at Crete.

A Grecian Demand.

It is stated that Greece has sent a note to the Porte, asking that the same privileges be accorded to Thessaly and Epirus as to the Slavonic provinces. The Porte replied that the only privileges they had a right to were already accorded by the constitution. Greece sent a second note but the Porte has not yet replied.

Leave, or Stay and Starve.

VIENNA, May 28.—Admiral Kerim Pasha, Turkish commander-in-chief, has informed the inhabitants of Rutschuk, Varna, Shumla and Silistria, that all persons not having six months' provisions must quit within 12 days.

England's Critical Moment.

CHICAGO, May 28.—The Times' London special says the English government regards the present situation as a crisis of the war. Little of the real government's workings are permitted to reach the public, though the critical nature of the situation is understood in journalistic and diplomatic quarters. The war is the theme on every tongue. Every allusion to Gladstone's peace policy is received with derision. The ominous reticency and irresistible advance of the Russians in Asia, while the Danubian army has been at a stand still, has thrown the whole nation into a frenzy of indignation and alarm. The Czar is denounced as a hypocrite and despoiler, and it is held that the preservation of Christian rights in Turkey is the excuse. Meetings are to be called to urge a vigorous policy. England can not look idly on and permit Russia to seize the British highway to India under pretext of Christianizing the Turks. The English representative at Constantinople has been sending news for a week which leaves England no alternative but war. The Turkish Empire is represented by Layard as in a state of irretrievable collapse; the capture of Ardahan and dispersion of the Turkish army was a deliberate scheme of the Turkish cabinet to electrify Britain to instant intervention. No adequacy was made for defense in Asia. It has proved to be a preconcerted fraud; its purpose has been to drag British interests into the foreground. It is insinuated that Russia's movements indicate a war for the empire rather than civilization, and that against the former England protests. At Constantinople intrigues exist among the cabinet officers and the people are in momentary anticipation of the deposition of the Sultan and the dispersion of the present party in power. The army of the Danube, discouraged by the reverses in Asia, is regarded as unequal to the contest awaiting it. The helplessness of the Turkish ministry and the indecision of the Sultan show that the government depends more upon English intervention than upon their own prowess.

English Ironclads.

LONDON, May 28.—Ten Ironclads are at Portsmouth. The turret ship Thunderer has returned to Portsmouth with disabled machinery. Four thousand horse stalls for transport vessels are being delivered at Woolwich.

A Squally Look for Turkey.

Dispatches to the English envoy represent unless instant steps are taken, the Russians will be within striking distance of Constantinople from the east within a month. The Russians now in Asia are in a condition to attack Mukhtar Pasha, capture his army and strike for Constantinople without serious obstacles. The English foreign office has, within a week, secured the exclusive use of a wire to Constantinople, and uninterrupted correspondence has been carried on. The English press and members of parliament comment with bitterness on Russian deception, and point out that the objects of the war have been ignored, and that instead of relieving the so-called outrages in Bulgaria, the Russians are waging war in the East, where English interests are jeopardized by every step of her army.

Next week, under the pretence of a grand review, the entire English ironclad squadron, now in the East, will assemble at Portsmouth.

General War Notes.

LONDON, May 28.—A Times dispatch from Paris announces that Montenegrins invested Flostup, a fort in Dugas Pass, and captured the village of Sreedina Markling.

Five thousand Turks have set out to reach Nicsic.

A correspondent at Danilograd states he has been officially assured that not a single Russian officer has been sent to Bosnia.

A Vienna dispatch says the Turks attempted for the fourth time to establish their batteries opposite the Roumanian position at Islatz, but the Roumanian artillery drove them away.

The amount of tribute usually paid to Turkey, about 900,000 francs, has been unanimously appropriated by both Roumanian chambers for the use of the army.

LONDON, May 28.—A special from Alexandria reports that the departure of the Egyptian contingent has been delayed by the refusal of 27 English engineers of the fleet to sail without payment of arrears of salary.

Papal Austria.

ROME, May 27.—The Pope, in receiving Austrian pilgrims, deplored the change in Austria's behavior towards the Holy See, whose rights she formerly defended, even by force of arms.

Receiving Gen. Grant.

LONDON, May 28.—Minister Pierrepont, Consuls Badaeu and Fairchild, and a number of Americans residing in England will receive Gen. Grant at Liverpool.

LONDON, May 28.—A number of persons boarded the Indiana at Queenstown to welcome General Grant. He has received a private communication from the mayor of Liverpool, which is probable an official invitation.

Arrests of Conspirators.

PARIS, May 28.—A correspondent telegraphs that further arrests were made in Madrid yesterday.

The Disabled Steamer.

QUEENSTOWN, May 28.—Southwest gales with thick weather and rain prevailed here since last night. As the wind is favorable for the City of Brussels, she is likely to pass on to Liverpool.

THE TERRITORIES.

Two children of Henry Hunt, living on White river, aged three and five, died a few days since from eating green fungus or toad stools.

Dan Lynch, who couldn't furnish $5,000 bail, has been sent to jail at Seattle on a charge of highway robbery and assault with intent to kill.

Seattle Dispatch: From six to ten tons of butter per month are brought here by the San Francisco steamers. Yet at our very doors we have good woodland pastures and abundance of beautiful water. Some of these days, the value of Puget Sound as a dairying region will be better appreciated. It is a better investment than buying lots in these little towns and waiting for them to be enhanced in value by location of railroads.

The Pioneer Agricultural Society of Washington Territory, known as the "Washington Agricultural Society," was organized in 1855, and included among its officers Gov. Stevens, President; Mr. G. A. Barnes, Treasurer; Mr. G. P. Whitworth, Secretary. Messrs. C. C. Hewitt, C. H. Hale and Wm. McLane were among its chief promoters. It did a good work and passed from existence in 1875; its assets, some $200, being transferred to the Western Washington Industrial Association.

The Chronicle's Libel Suits.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—The Call to-morrow will publish a communication from a special representative at Stockton relative to the impending criminal libel suits against the Chronicle. Members of the grand jury and district court, of course, decline to make public their proceedings, but it is believed an indictment will be found. Mr. Sargent will bring similar complaints and seek to obtain indictments in every county in the State where action on the part of the grand jury can be procured in time to make it available in exposing what he claims to be a conspiracy to crush his political aspirations. He admits none of the charges preferred against him by Pinney and published, with editorial endorsement, in the Chronicle, and his purpose in bringing his complaint in all the counties is to bring out his vindication in every county in which he claims to have been libelled. Work was begun in the interior to bring the matter to an issue at the earliest possible moment. The grand jury of San Francisco county will not meet until next July, when a similar complaint will be brought before it. Mr. Page will pursue the same course, and both gentlemen will leave no stone unturned to bring the matter fully to public view.

Suicide.

A German named Wilhelm Saffat was found dead in his bed at 830 Harrison street this afternoon, having suicided by taking strychnine. Cause, financial embarrassment.

Sudden Death.

Wm. Shear, a well known turfman, died at San Mateo, where he was temporarily residing.

Seizure at Honolulu.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—Recent arrivals from Honolulu report that the American bark Mary Belle Roland, which left there April 9 for that port, has been seized by the Hawaiian authorities and her captain, Gray, lodged in prison on a charge of smuggling opium. It is considered probable that the vessel will be confiscated.

Pinney's Preliminary Examination.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Pinney's preliminary examination in the Police Court on the charges of raising a certificate of indebteness and uttering false certificates of indebtedness was resumed this afternoon. F. W. Burr, President of the Clay Street Savings Bank, where the certificate was hypothecated, sworn first: He took the certificate to Pay Inspector Spalding, who said it was all right. Subsequently witness said he couldn't testify whether he or Shotwell, one of the directors of the bank, took the certificate to Spalding.

Dennis Jordan naval contractor, in whose favor the certificate was drawn, testified that he endorsed a certificate on which $2,473 40 was marked. The figure 3 was subsequently prefixed to the amount. The government never owed witness as much as $30,000. Jordan further testified to having on two or three occasions signed certificates for amounts greater than were due him at the time on Pinney's solicitations and representations that it was all right, as there would be more material to be delivered and Pinney wanted the present use of the money.

Mr. Shotwell, director of the Clay Street Bank, testified that he took the certificate to Spalding, who said it was all right; it was for $32,473 40. G. H. Carmany, cashier of the bank, swore that Pinney borrowed $25,000 on certificate, payable to Rodgers & Co., but subsequently substituted for that security Jordan's certificate, now in court.

Rufus C. Spalding, ex-U. S. navy pay inspector, testified that the signature to the certificate in court was his; that it was probably signed by him in blank, and subsequently filled up by Pinney, in whose handwriting the body of the certificate was. He explained it was his custom to sign regulation forms in blank to be filled up by Pinney or other clerks in the office. He testified to the very loose manner of conducting business of the office, attributing it to his full confidence in Pinney; said he never signed a certificate for the amount of $32,473 40, which this bore, as he knew there was never any such amount due Jordan; had either signed in blank or else it had been originally made out for $2,437 40, and Pinney had subsequently raised it. He swore also that Shotwell never showed him the certificate in question.

More Charges.

A warrant was issued by Judge Louderback to-day on information of Wm. B. Carr, charging Geo. M. Pinney with embezzlement of $59,588 50 of money of the Ida Elmore Mining Co. on or about the 1st of September, 1875. The complaint is made on information and belief of Carr, who alleges that Pinney embezzled this money while acting as treasurer of that Co; bail fixed at $50,000. Pinney has not yet succeeded in obtaining bail required and remains as yet in custody.

Pending the continuance of the examination until to-morrow, Pinney's counsel made application for a reduction of bail on the charge of embezzling funds of the Ida Elmore Company, which had been fixed at $50,000. After some argument the court reduced the bail to $30,000. Some question was raised by counsel for the prosecution whether J. W. Brumagin, one of Pinney's bondsmen, was worth the amount he had sworn to. Pinney has not yet succeeded in obtaining bonds on the embezzlement charge.

Pinney in Jail.

One of the tank cells in the city jail is set apart for Pinney's reception. He declines to be interviewed, but it is intimated by those who profess to be in his confidence that he says he did not try very hard to obtain bail, being satisfied to suffer confinement with a view of making out a case of false imprisonment against Carr, at whose instance he was arrested on this charge. His affairs are still the town talk, and a party who is believed to be posted, states that at next session of Congress a petition will be presented from this city calling for the Commission to come here and fully investigate all charges and reports growing out of Pinney's statements, including an inquiry into pay office matters and the connection of Sargent, Page, et al., with the affair. In this connection, among other rumors which are flying about, is one to the effect Hon. H. F. Page is to be summoned before the next grand jury, which sits here, on a charge of being accessory after the fact in being aware of Pinney's wheabouts and not reporting the same to the authorities. The rumor bears its absurdity on its face.

A fine drizzling rain set in early this morning, and has continued all forenoon without intermission. Reports from various points of the interior and northern portion of the State show the rain to be quite general.

Loss of a Steamer Rumored.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—A private dispatch from New York this afternoon reports a rumor there that the Pacific Mail steamer City of San Francisco, now overdue from Panama, had been lost on the Mexican coast. In response to inquiries Williams, Blanchard & Co., agents of the line, stated they had received no intimation to that effect and discredited the rumor. They also said that by schedule time the ship was due here on the 24th inst., but they did not expect her before yesterday. Meantime, by having mentioned the matter to firms in the city who are heavy shippers, the rumor has obtained circulation on the street and occasions some uneasiness.

THE WALLA WALLA TRAGEDY.

The Walla Walla Watchman gives the following account of the recent tragedy at that place:

About noon last Sunday Lewis, oldest son of our worthy townsman, John H. Foster, put a revolver in his coat pocket and quietly walked up to Roberts' Grove. Here he sat down, lost, apparently in deep meditation. Suddenly he arose and proceeded straightway to the house of P. L. Hawley, knocked at the door, and when bid by the old gentleman (who was then engaged in reading) to enter, he opened the door, stepped in and calmly inquired for "Laf.," the oldest son of Mr. Hawley. The latter told him to be seated, as Laf. was in an adjoining room dressing himself, then, while in the act of perusing the lines where he stopped reading and no doubt lowering his head, young Foster pulled the pistol out of his pocket unobserved and fired, the ball entering the crown of the unfortunate old man's head, killing him instantly. Lafayette, the son referred to, sprang from his room, but, alas! too late. His father was dead, yet who could realize the solemn fact at that dreadful moment? The culprit fled, leaped across Major Truax's fence and made for his father's house, where he was arrested. The pistol was a ready reloaded, and when remonstrated with about the cold-blooded deed just committed by him, he acted with a strange forbidden silence. While in jail his father visited him and he said: "What have I done to you, that you should treat me so?" Mr. Isham, his brother-in-law, also went to see him, and when asked how he was he answered: "I need a little tobacco; have you any?" He seems to know nothing at all about the pall of sorrow which he has thrown over the family circle of his friends. It is the strangest, saddest tragedy we ever heard of. They were friends for years, and never exchanged an unkind word. A more quiet and peace-loving man is not known in the county than the murdered man. No young man in the city was more retired, inoffensive and calm than the murderer, and yet the awful deed was done, throwing a whole community into gloom and consternation. There is, however, but one solution, and that is that the young man is afflicted with periodical insanity, the working of which, upon the human mind, no man knows nor is yet able to conjecture. The sympathy of the entire community is with both families, for while the suffering and the loss of one is great, that of the other is endless, as every father and mother who have watched over their loved ones from the cradle to the grave can but faintly realize what it is to see them go from home to the prison cell, stained with the blood of a good and innocent man.

FIVE CHILDREN BURNED.

A Binghampton, N. Y., paper of May 15th, reports the following terrible casualty:

An awful calamity occurred to-day at Little York, Cortlandt county, a station of the Syracuse and Binghampton railroad, about fifty miles north of this city. The depot building, a story and a half structure, was in charge of Frank Dunnigan, a brakeman, who lived in part of it with his family. Dunnigan started a fire in the stove down stairs between five and six o'clock this morning and then went to a barn across the two tracks and some distance away. He was accompanied by his wife. Their children, five in number, were left asleep in the upper story. The parents had been at the barn but a few minutes when they discovered that the upper part of the depot was in flames. Both rushed to the building and attempted to get up stairs to rescue their children, but the flames had gained such headway as to prevent the ascent of the agonized parents, and the unfortunate little ones were roasted alive.

Mrs. Dunnigan was severely burned in the face, and her husband was compelled to use force to prevent her from perishing with the children, in a hopeless effort to save their lives. The poor mother and father could hear their little ones calling for help, and the situation was heartrending in the extreme. At about 8:30 o'clock this morning, when the passenger train from Syracuse passed Little York, the depot had burned down, and the bodies of four of the children, shockingly burned, had been removed from the ruins. The remains of the fifth body had not yet been taken out. The eldest of the five was but eight or nine years old.

Chicago Tribune: If the authorities of Mississippi refuse to punish the assassins, then the United States authorities may ascertain their power to proceed under the Ku-Klux laws. If the Ku-Klux laws fail to cover the crime, then, as we have said already, it will become a question whether the people of the United States shall not interfere on the broad ground of humanity by electing a national legislature which will take steps to convert the Bashi-Bazouks of Mississippi into a penal colony.

It is said that there is but little fractional currency on standing, although not one-half the amount issued has been redeemed. It is estimated that at least one-half has been worn out, destroyed or lost.

Last Saturday six condemned government horses were sold at Walla Walla for $51 50 a head.

A REMINISCENCE OF 1853.

In the Pacific Christian Advocate, Rev. H. K. Hines recently had the following account of his crossing Snake river at Old Fort Boise, in 1853, and a sad mishap that there occurred:

In every life there are days and dates consecrated to sadness and sorrow. There are places, too, the associations of which are grief-shadowed. Such a day is the 21st day of August, 1853, and such a place the crossing of Snake river at Old Fort Boise.

The summer of 1853 was spent by the writer and his wife, in company with two brothers and their families in the long journey across "the plains." From early May when we passed the last settler's cabin on the eastern range of Missouri, we had moved slowly up the plain to the summit of the Rocky mountains, over and down the western slope, across the lava deserts of Snake river, and made a Sunday camp on Boise river, opposite where Boise City now stands. We moved slowly down that stream for four days, giving our cattle opportunity to recruit on the rich pasturage of the valley; and on the morning of Friday reached Snake river again, and prepared to cross. The families were crossed on the ferryboat, but the stock were to swim a few rods below. The current was rapid and the river deep. All three brothers, with most of the men of the train, mounted horses, designing to trust themselves to the power of the horses to carry them through the deep, angry current. One proceeded. Myself and oldest brother brought up the rear, we had driven the last of the stock in and over; then we rode side by side into the deep current. Strangely enough both our horses refused to bear us. They sank to the bottom, and simultaneously reared backward, plunging us both into the river. Being a good swimmer, and having divested myself of boots and coat before going into the river, I found no difficulty in reaching the shore in safety. Not so with my brother. The current bore him downward with fearful velocity, and in a moment he sank from our sight into the grave of the waters. On the farther bank stood the three families; hearing that one of the brothers was drowned, and, for a moment, not knowing which, it was a dreadful moment. Sad, stricken, mourning, we turned away from the spot of bereavement.

From that day till April 27, 1877, nearly a quarter of a century, I had not looked upon the place. That morn I stood there again. It may well be supposed it was a sad moment. I, alone, of all the three am left. My wife, of the three wives, alone is left. Though, strangely enough, all the other members of the three families—with one exception—are living, but so scattered that "I feel like one who walks alone,

Some banquet hall deserted;
Its lights all fled, its guests all dead,
And all but me departed."

VERY NEATLY EXECUTED.

Only a portion of Blaine's letter on the Adamses, written in December, 1875, but coming to light only a short time ago, reached us by telegraph. We give the balance of the document. It is a piece of work well executed, undeniably:

Old John, in many respects the best of them, took the Federal party in 1796, when it had the talent, the character, the culture, the wealth and the patriotic traditions and prejudices of the country all largely in its favor, and in four years he so entirely destroyed it that it never reappeared, except as a ghost wherewith to frighten two succeeding generations of statesmen. A large part of the quarter century that he lived after he retired from the presidency was spent in querulous efforts to throw the responsibility of his failures on the friends of Hamilton and the eleven other contrary jurymen.

John Quincy Adams was equally unfortunate with the Republican party of his day. When he was inaugurated, in 1825, there was no other political organization in the country, and a wise leader of men and of parties would have found no difficulty in harmonizing the personal feuds which were permitted to grow into such fearful magnitude and acquire such destructive force. Indeed, the administration of the second Adams so entirely wrecked the great Republican party which Monroe left that it was never heard from again except under an alias. Had John Quincy Adams died the day he left the Presidency, he would never have filled the prominent place which he is entitled in our history. He would simply have been known as a child of political fortune—always in office, no matter which party was in power—head of an administration which was only remarkable for its failures, author of a diary conspicuous only for its malignity, sire to a son unwise enough to publish it. The last seventeen years of his life, spent in the House of Representatives, all but one year in the opposition, developed those qualities and gave him those opportunities which secured him his fame. It is in that field alone that the present generation know him, and Mr. Seward, when he wrote the biography of the "Old Man Eloquent" (he never was eloquent when young), devoted more space to his service in the House than to all the preceding history of his official life, which may be said to have begun about the time he was weaned. As an Executive he was as utter a failure as his father.

THE GENIUS OF ISLAM.

In an article with this caption the British Quarterly says:

There can be no question that many subsidiary influences of a special character, arising out of the nature of the doctrine and the condition of society, contributed to the rapid and brilliant success of Islam. Foremost, probably, among the secondary springs of the wonderful power of conquest and assimilation which Islam displayed, must be noted its doctrine of the absolute equality of believers before God and before each other. Three great faiths have proclaimed this doctrine, have addressed man as man, have known nothing of caste, or class, or race, or nation; but have preached their gospel to the human, and have sought to establish on its basis a brotherhood of mankind. Buddhism, Christianity, and Islam have thus much in common, and they divide among them the spiritual empire of the world. In Islam the doctrine is peculiarly pronounced and vivid. In Christendom it has had to struggle with the compact and powerful structure of society, in whose bosom the gems of the feudal order from the first were working; and the conflict in which the Christian idea has been slowly conquering for ages, has largely ministered to man's higher development. But in the East, owing to the simplicity, the inorganic character of Oriental Society, the doctrine found little to struggle with. Its broad, levelling message flashed like flame through the East, and all that severed and sundered men, classes, peoples, went down before its breath. It met the deep instinctive yearning of the Oriental heart for fellowship on the basis of clear, firm beliefs, relating the individual to a higher will; and it satisfied that other tendency of the Oriental political imagination, to the order of things of which Nimrod has the fame of the founder—wide empires—of the human race. Islam was profoundly in tune with all that the Oriental heart loves and longs for; and it often, as in Persia, made its conquered converts more fanatical devotees of its doctrine than the very Arabs out of whose soil it sprang.

A TEETOTAL CORRESPONDENT.—H. V. Redfield, the brilliant correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, is a teetotaler. He says that during his travels in the South he is invited at least 150 times a year to "take a drink." He always firmly, but politely, begs to be excused, giving, as his reason that he never indulges in spirituous or malt liquors, and he describes in a very amusing manner the effect of this announcement upon the average Southern gentleman. First, he looks at his correspondent's feet, then slowly raises his eyes, taking in by degrees his whole person until he reaches the top of his head. Then his eyes are slowly depressed until they again rest upon the ground, when he steps back one or two paces, puts his hands on his lips, and, after a moment's pause, says, with a tone of great astonishment, "Well, I'll be damned!"

The Republicans of Wisconsin are dividing on the President's policy, and the Milwaukee News predicts that it will prove disastrous to the fortunes of the party. One-third of the newspapers are in revolt.

Chicago Times: The talk about a Mormon war and cattle stealing on the Mexican border is instigated by parties interested in army contracts, and others who oppose a reduction of the army.

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 29, 1877.

THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE.

It is manifest that the Russian campaign in Asia is making real progress. Weight of forces enables Russia to turn the fortresses and mountain passes, leaving men enough to engage their enemy's attention at every fortified point, and pressing on with large bodies of troops to more advanced positions in the open field. This strategy may compel the evacuation of the fortresses to save the garrisons, and either bring the Turks to battle in open field or compel their retreat on Constantinople.

On the Asiatic side it is plain that the Turks are in great danger. The fortresses toward their northeastern frontier are relied on as their main defense; for the Ottoman soldier in the open field is not a match for the average soldier of Europe. The Russian campaign develops a purpose, in the dispositions made of great masses of troops, which may seriously threaten Constantinople from the eastern side. If the fortified places already invested should fall, or Russia's great superiority of numbers should enable her to leave them behind closely blockaded, as the Germans did the French fortresses in 1870, the catastrophe could not long be postponed.

If Russia commanded the Black Sea her victory would be speedy and overwhelming. She could move men and material to all points with rapidity and assail the Turk very quickly in his last retreats. She had this advantage in 1829, and it brought her very speedily to the gates of Constantinople. But English money has furnished Turkey with an iron-clad fleet that is just now her principal defense; though Turkey owes for the fleet, and it may be uncertain whether England ever gets the money. On the Danube the Russian campaign is delayed by the slowness with which forces so numerous can be moved by a single line of rail, and by the swollen state of the river, which as yet prohibits crossing.

OUTCROPPINGS.

It is not surprising that so dazzling a scheme of speculation and prosperity as that promised to the South and Southwest through the immense subsidies demanded of the general government should turn many heads even at the North, and enlist for the scheme the active support of those Northern interests which might expect to participate in the benefits or profits of so great a raid upon the treasury. Pennsylvania, for example, is expected to join in urging the great demands of the South, in order that she may get a market for railroad iron. Other interests in the Northern States, as those of locomotive builders and car makers, will be engaged also. Missouri, which is only half Southern in position and population, will give the whole scheme a solid support, though she is already well served with railroads built largely at public expense. The Southern States proper will be found sustaining it with their vast vote. The whole press of that section is carried off its feet by the general acclaim. In the language of the St. Louis Journal, a Republican paper, "the needy West and the still needier South are only asking for aid and justice," and their claim is "ten times more meritorious" than that under which the present roads were built. As a sign of what is expected of the administration, the same paper says that "the leading senators and representatives of the South have taken their stand on the proposition and ranged themselves under the leadership of the President, who favors the principle." These outcroppings of the political side of the question are continually making an appearance. In almost every utterance on the subject there is an assertion more or less direct that there is a bargain connected with the counting of the electoral vote which is in this way to be kept and fulfilled. It is not too much to say that an impression of this sort almost universally prevails among those most interested in urging the new and vast subsidy system.

But in all this no word is spoken for the interests of the North and Northwest. The scheme as entertained contemplates aid only for the Southern section and for Southern interests. Their argument is that the North has had enough. They consider the present Pacific road a Northern and Northwestern enterprise. It has never entered their minds that the interest and wants of the Northwest are really not served at all. Because the South has political influence everything is demanded for the South. By those who are working up this great Southern scheme the claims and needs of the Northwest will be resisted, on the ground that the North has had enough and now it is the time of the South to be considered. The plan for subsidies reported by the House committee for the Texas Pacific and its many branches is large enough to give both the Northwest and Southwest a through line. If justice cannot be secured for us, owing to the superior political strength of the South, we shall know it shortly; and if Ohio politicians, in their eagerness to control the government, are committed to a plan that gives one section everything,—or what is equivalent, gives it so much that we of the Northwest can get nothing,—then these same politicians may make the most of their brief term of power and prepare for other employments. At present it must be confessed that matters do not look well. Another danger to be noted is that through the greed of the South, all plans may fail. The powerful newspapers of the North, both Republican and Democratic, are against all subsidies whatsoever.

OLD PERSONALITIES.

From time to time one person or another who, without having participated much in old political controversies here, yet retain a sort of confused recollection of them, undertakes to publish his "reminiscences" of the same with a view to keeping men and things in a broil, as far as may be in his power. Some of these writers are known; others wear cowardly masks. All, if they knew it, are engaged in a very foolish and unprofitable work. The personalities in which men often indulge in the heat of political contests usually have little weight. Several writers have recently been troubling themselves greatly about things that were said in the Bulletin here some years ago about Judge Deady, ex-Senator Corbett, and others. Of course the only idea is to try to make a sensation by new combinations of old materials, interlarded liberally with new falsehoods. This is pitiful business, and will not have any part of the success which its authors hope for. Men of sense understand these things. How easy and natural it is to go beyond the bounds of justice and propriety in the fierce war of personalities is well understood. For instance, the story was started and hawked about that Mr. Corbett made a hundred thousand dollars by a speculation in iron in consequence of information obtained through the committee of an intended reduction ... This was published in the Bulletin ... the height of a political and personal ... y, on one side of which Mr. Corbett, ... then owning stock in this paper, was held to be a representative man. How absurd the charge was would have plainly appeared had the fact been noted or thought of that the tariff was reduced, not increased, at that time, and therefore the assertion could not possibly be well founded. But the last person who used it, only a few months ago, not content with knowing that it had been entirely exploded, raised the amount of Mr. Mr. Corbett's reputed gains by the speculation to a million, and sent it forth as a new revelation. Whatever certain persons might have persuaded themselves to believe during the acrimony of a personal contest, no one now really supposes that Mr. Corbett, during his term in the Senate acted with official impropriety in this or in any other matter. This can properly be said now in this paper, since he sold his stock in it a considerable time ago, is a private citizen quietly pursuing his own business, and has no connection with public affairs. The writer of this cares nothing whatever for any charge of inconsistency that may be raised against him in regard to these old controversies. It is always the province of narrow minds to harp on an alleged inconsistency. Those who are capable of larger and juster views prefer to set matters right, and act an honorable and manly part. It is very shallow criticism, indeed, to accuse a person of having been connected with objectionable company in politics, and at the same censure him for abandoning it.

The San Jose Mercury undertakes to see in the drouth that desolates California a blessing in disguise, chiefly because it gives the land a chance to rest. But it is feared that those whose crops have failed will not be reconciled to a blessing of this questionable description. On the other hand those who have good crops will hardly consider them an evil, on the theory that their land needs rest. This "disguised blessing" notion, the Post well remarks, usually has a great deal of cant and humbug about it. It is a mystery, indeed, why people will keep saying that everything happens for the best, when nothing is more apparent and certain that in very few cases what happens is not for the best at all. Often an event is the very worst thing that could happen, consider it from what point of view we may.

The falsity and general scurrility of the articles that make up the bulk of the San Francisco Chronicle's sensations are equalled by those of no other paper published on the Pacific coast. The Idaho Statesman, reviewing one of its letters from that Territory on the alleged "pernicious influence of Oregon on Idaho politics," repels the sweeping charges brought forward by the writer. It says: "The effort to show that Oregon influence has a pernicious effect upon the politics of Idaho is very far from the truth: even admitting that Oregon has an influence over Idaho, our people, politics and public affairs will bear a favorable comparison with other Territories and States of this Union."

The New York Herald thinks that the diplomacy of England is a repetition of the Sclesw g-Holstein farce of 1864, when she gave great encouragement to Demark and tried to bully Prussia, but when the pinch came backed squarely out and left Denmark to be crushed by her powerful adversary. And the Herald thinks this just the same game England has been playing on Turkey. It concludes with this remark:

The continental cabinets feel that the bullying diplomacy of England in former times was a sham exhibition of strength, no more to be regarded now than the scare-crow in a corn field after the crows have discovered that it is not a man with a musket, but a straw-stuffed suit of old clothes impaled upon a stake.

Oh! no, Major, your pardon; we have no dispute whatever with your "good friend, Mr. O'Meara." We haven't taken it upon ourselves to contradict what he says about you. The point is just here, and it is for you, Major, not for him: Has the matter relating to certain persons here which he is now publishing in your paper, the same quality of truth as his former assertion in the newspapers that you are a thief, and he wanted you to give him a chance to prove it? This is the point, Major. We have no controversy whatever with your friend. The only point in the matter is for you to decide.

The extent to which the sewing machine combination was a monopoly that pressed upon the whole people of this country is shown in the fact that American machines could be manufactured and carried to Europe, where our patent laws did not protect the manufacturer, and there sold for twenty-five to fifty per cent.—cost of transportation included—cheaper than machines of the same class commanded at the doors of the factory in this country.

It is claimed by the Mountaineer, on the authority of a farmer who has had experience in raising wheat, both east and west of the Cascades, that half a dollar a bushel on that side is as profitable as one dollar on this. It is, we think, too large a claim for Eastern Oregon; but that we shall shortly have from that side more wheat than from this, is perfectly demonstrable. The extent of wheat lands there is too vast to admit a doubt of it.

Don't you really think, Tony, that a man who would write and print such articles about you as that one to which we called your attention would be equal to the "Carl" business, and that people will see it so? Make a clean breast of the whole matter and win the respect of your readers by a candid acknowledgement that you have been fairly caught and exposed.

Almost all parts of the State have been visited by rains during the last two weeks, and great crops are assured. As the eyes of California turn from her withered plains and blasted hills to the refreshing spectacle of verdure and the great promise of harvests in Oregon, it will be in order, of course, to repeat the sneer about Oregon's "everlasting rains."

The London dispatch to the Chicago Times, which we publish this morning, indicates a good deal of feeling among the English concerning the safety of British interest in the East. If the surmises of the Times' correspondent be nearly correct the indications that England will yet take a part in the great struggle are growing stronger.

OFFICE OF INSURANCE COMMISSIONER,
San Francisco, Feb. 5, 1877.

J. W. Foard, hereby certify that I am Insurance Commissioner of the State of California, and have supervision of insurance business in the State, and as such Commissioner, further certify that the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California is a corporation properly organized under the laws of this State, and being in a solvent condition and possessed of a paid up capital of One Hundred Thousand Dollars, equal to Gold Coin of the United States, is authorized to do business in the State. And I further certify that, upon a personal examination of the books and papers of the said company at the close of the year eighteen hundred and seventy-six, its statement as of this date, and now on file in this office, was shown to be correct and true, the company being possessed of good, valid assets amounting to one million two hundred and sixty-four thousand eight hundred and thirty-six dollars and eighty-six cents ($1,264,836 86), and having outstanding liabilities, as defined by the laws of the State, amounting to nine hundred and sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars and five cents ($916,750 05), exclusive of the Capital Stock.

(L. S.) As witness my hand and official seal, the day and year first above written.
J. W. FOARD,
Insurance Commissioner.

[Extract from Report of A. D. Smith, ex-Deputy Insurance Commissioner.]

J. J. EDWARDS, Publisher Coast Review,
Dear Sir:—In pursuance of your request I have made an examination of the Assets and Liabilities of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California, as they existed on the 31st day of December, 1876, as shown by the books and papers of the Company, and as a result of such examination I beg to report as follows:

* * * * * * * *

Total Assets, Gold	$1,281,847 39
Re-Insurance Reserve, American Experience, 4½ per ct.	$886,031 49
Claims for Death Losses	28,700 00
Due on Account Salaries and Rents	2,019 02
Total Liabilities, Gold	916,750 51
Net surplus to Policy-holders Gold	$365,097 08
Company's paid-up Capital	$100,000 00

The above is, I believe, a true and fair statement of the Company's condition Dec. 31, 1876.

In conclusion, I beg to say that I found the Company's business thoroughly systematized—its books and papers in excellent condition and neatly kept. Every facility was extended to me by all the officers and employees of the Company to enable me to make my examination thorough. Books, papers, and accounts were freely exhibited to me. There was no attempt to hold back or conceal anything. I am satisfied the Company courts the most rigid scrutiny. For courteous treatment, I beg to return thanks to the officers and attaches of the Company.
Respectfully submitted A. D. SMITH.
San Francisco, February 5, 1877.

*Commissioner Foard excludes items of assets not admitted under the laws of California, amounting to $17,010 73.

CITY.

DISASTROUS RUNAWAY.—Late yesterday afternoon a very serious accident occurred on Fourth street, between Morrison and Oak, which may yet terminate fatally. Mr. Crummie, a person who is a general teamster around the city, was driving down Fourth street about 4 o'clock. His little son, a lad aged about 10 years, was sitting on the wagon at the time. When near Morrison street the horses became frightened and dashed off down Fourth. The team becoming unmanageable, Mr. Crummie's son attempted to jump off. He struck violently against the plank roadway, and had the misfortune to sustain a compound fracture of the left leg between the knee and ankle. Several persons, who witnessed the accident, picked the lad up and carried him into a house standing opposite. Mr. Crummie, in his efforts to check the team, was thrown from the wagon. He hung resolutely to the lines, and was dragged for some distance. The horses were stopped at Oak street, and Mr. Crummie relieved from his position of danger. He was severely bruised and scratched and unable to walk or even stand when picked up. He was conveyed at once to his home and medical aid summoned. His injuries are quite serious, but not regarded as necessarily fatal. Dr. W. A. Cardwell was called to see the injured lad. An examination disclosed the fact that both the fibula and tibia were fractured. The little fellow bore the pain of setting the broken limb with a courage and fortitude not to be expected in one so young. Both father and son were resting as comfortably as could be expected under the circumstances when last heard from.

DECORATION DAY.—The following is the programme and line of march for the customary observance of Decoration Day—Wednesday next—by the Grand Army of the Republic, assisted by various civic and military societies of this city: The procession will form on Third street, right resting on Alder, at 1 o'clock P. M., under direction of the officer of the day and aids, and march up Alder to Fourth street, up Fourth to Main, down Main to First, down First to Stark, down Stark to the ferry, from the ferry to the cemetery, where the following programme will be carried out: Music, dirge; prayer, Rev. J. L. Cruzan; remarks, F. K. Arnold, president and master of the ceremonies; song, Alpha Glee Club; oration, Col. Smallwood; music; response, Comrade Geo. C. Sears, subject, "Decoration Day;" response, H. H. Northup, subject, "The Army;" song, Amphion Glee Club; poem, Miss Sonora Withnell; song, choir, "Decoration Day;" response, D. I. Stearns, "Those who died in Prison;" response, Comrade A. Tyler, "Our Foes." After which decoration of graves, when the procession will reform and march back to the city.

PLAN FRUSTRATED.—Jailer Morrill discovered and frustrated a well matured plan, Sunday among six of the prisoners confined in the county jail for making their escape. From appearances, the prisoners had been engaged at the work for several days, as the bars and locks had been almost filed off. The prisoners had undoubtedly received assistance from outside parties, as four large jack knives and two fine steel saws were found in their possession. Mr. Morrill, for several days past, was suspicious that some movement was on foot among the prisoners, and he redoubled his vigilance and soon had the satisfaction of dropping on their little game. When detected in their efforts to escape, the fellows were badly disgusted, and could not conceal their chagrin. Baker, who it seems was the ringleader in the attempt, was locked up in a "cell" and will not be permitted to make a similar effort. Had not the plan been frustrated Sunday, that night the prisoners would have effected their escape without doubt.

THE SUIT.—Yesterday, in Judge Deady's court a suit was begun by the United States against W. C. Griswold on complaint of B. F. Dowell for $40,096 60, under sections 3,490 and 3,491 R. S., on an allegation that Griswold some time ago defrauded the government by false and fictitious vouchers which he collected out of the appropriation to pay the expenses of Capt. Walker's company of Oregon Volunteers of 1864. Dowell, it appears, opposed the payment of the claims, but Griswold collected them. He succeeded in getting Dowell disbarred at the departments in Washington, then returning to Oregon and exhibiting evidences of Dowell's suspension, he bought up the just claims of the expedition. Dowell sued for his fees and expenses and got judgment against Griswold both in the State and United States courts. The last judgment obtained in the U. S. Court on Friday was for $4,000. The larger suit now brought is a continuance of the litigation in another form.

A VALUABLE INVENTION.—Mr. M. Minahan, one of the workmen employed at the large establishment of Goldsmith & Loewenberg, has recently invented a most valuable machine, for which he has made application for a patent. The machine is called a "Patent Can Crimper." By means of this very ingenious contrivance one man can make three cans per minute—fully equivalent to the work of four men. The machine is so arranged that a two pound salmon or fruit can is as easily and quickly turned off as a yeast-powder can. Only one man is required to operate the machine. The model which Mr. Minahan exhibited at this office was made by Mr. John Hartman, and is a very neat specimen of mechanism. Mr. Minahan has certainly struck a bonanza, for the invention is one which recommends itself, and is bound to be generally adopted.

LONE FIR CEMETERY.

Yesterday forenoon we paid a flying visit to Lone Fir cemetery, in company with Mr. Chas. E. Sitton, for the purpose of inspecting the grounds since the work of improvement was commenced there. On arriving at the silent city a marvelous transformation greeted the eye. Where before nothing could be seen but decay, neglect, brambles, weeds and brush, now are presented neatly laid out paths and walks. On every hand was plainly visible the work of the pruner. Some weeks ago Messrs. Chas. Hodge and C. E. Sitton circulated a subscription paper among the citizens, the object being to raise a sum of money sufficient to defray the expenses of improving Lone Fir cemetery, which for many years had been permitted to lapse into a condition of shameful neglect. The effort made seems to have met with much public favor, as the sum of $300 was subscribed in a few days. Work was commenced without delay, Mr. P. Kiernan, the sexton, being employed to make the proposed improvements. For the past three or four weeks the spade, ax and pruning knife have been employed most effectively. One can scarcely realize what a change these few weeks have wrought, without paying a visit to the cemetery. All the underbrush, trailing plants and weeds have been grubbed up and cut away, walks have been graded which lead in different directions, and intersect at regular intervals. Nor has the work of improvement ceased here. The larger fir, willow, maple and oak trees have been carefully trimmed up—the tops and lower branches lopped off. No distinction has been shown in improving. Every grave has received equal attention, however lowly and obscure might have been he or she before being laid to rest. Death levels all distinction, and this fact has not been overlooked by the persons who have had personal charge of the work. Very many of the graves are nameless, the wooden head-boards having succumbed to the waste of years, decayed and fallen away, leaving nothing to tell the passer of "the name, the year, the day." Several hundred boards have been ordered by Messrs. Hodge and Sitton, a foot wide and several feet long, painted white. These boards have been placed at each end of every unknown grave. This, in connection with the general work of improvement, causes the otherwise nameless and neglected places of the departed to present a neat and tasteful appearance. Mr. Kiernan is crowding the work forward as rapidly as possible. If the weather is propitious the improvements will be finished by to-morrow—Decoration Day. Should to-morrow prove pleasant, thousands will gladly avail themselves of the opportunity presented, and visit Lone Fir—to see the marvelous transformation, and to strew fragrant garlands about the graves of departed relatives and friends. It will richly compensate for the labor of the walk to visit the cemetery and observe what a change has been wrought in so short a time and through the instrumentality of such a small sum of money.

Now that the work of improving and beautifying the homes of the dead has been inaugurated, it is to be sincerely hoped that all persons who have relatives and friends buried in Lone Fir Cemetery, will not permit their graves to lapse into neglect and decay. The disinterested and laudable action of Messrs. Hodge and Sitton, who spent much time in causing these improvements to be made, should serve as an incentive to the public to carry forward individually the good work thus commenced. The outlay of a very insignificant sum of money every year will suffice to keep every lot containing a grave or graves, in a neat and tasteful condition. Duty to the living does not exclude the idea of cherishing the memory of the dead and of beautifying and embellishing their last resting place.

Gus Miller, the inimitable, is at home again attending to business. His trip to Salem to take part in the entertainment given there recently, has not changed him in appearance or otherwise. He speaks loud in praise of the "boys" at the Capital.

AMUSEMENTS.

BELL RINGERS.—Last evening a fair audience greeted the appearance of the renowned Alleghanians at Masonic Hall. The performance was very enjoyable and that it succeeded in gratifying the audience, was very manifest from the hearty applause which greeted the varied selections presented. The opening chorus "When the Morning's Sweetly Breaking," sung by Miss Packard, Miss Durgin and Messrs. Benjamin and Phelon, was one of the most creditable features of the entertainment, and keenly appreciated. Among the most pleasing selections rendered during the evening by the Bell Ringers can be mentioned "Grand March and Quickstep," "Massa's In the Cold, Cold Ground," "Swiss Bell Ringers Waltz," "Love Not," and "The Last Rose of Summer," (performed by Phelon, and Bejamin) and "Marseillaise Hymn." Benjamin gave the audience a specimen of his marvelous skill on the musical glasses, and so delighted all present that he was compelled to respond to an encore. Several trios, duets and quartettes were also given during the evening, which were sweetly sung. These plain, homelike melodies sounded most refreshing to ears which have been surfeited with so much operatic and classic music. During the evening the Wyman's (Alfred and Lulu) appeared several times in songs and character sketches. These people are really very clever both in singing and acting, and succeeded in creating great merriment especially in the concluding sketch of "Karl and Gretchen." To-night the Alleghanians will appear again at the same place, in a choice programme. To-morrow afternoon a matinee performance will be given. The Alleghanians are announced to appear for only three nights, remember.

IMPORTANT TO OWNERS OF BILLIARD TABLES.—Mr. A. Wendt, the tailor, a few days ago removed a number of stains and thoroughly renewed a billiard cloth, without removing the cloth from the table. The idea, Mr. Wendt claims, is a new one, and he is ready to execute orders for persons having billiard table cloths to clean.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Our regular correspondent sends the following under date of May 28th:

Wool has advanced to 23 cents and wheat fallen to $1 25.

The monthly concert of the M. E. Sabbath school, last Sunday afternoon, was excellent.

The grangers who have been with us the past week have gathered themselves up and departed for their rural homes, leaving our city extremely quiet.

Rev. O. Parker, the newly appointed rector for the Episcopal church of this place, has taken charge of his work, much to the satisfaction of his congregation.

The Misses May and Lottie Hailer, of Coupeville, Whidby's Island, W. T., passed through town Saturday on their way to visit Col. Nesmith's family in Polk county.

The match game of base-ball, between the Ætnas of this place and the Juniors of Monmouth, played Saturday, resulted in a score of 46 to 24 in favor of the Salem boys.

It is whispered around quietly that a certain rising young lawyer of our town, and a Piety Hill belle, are making arrangements looking to early matrimonial ceremonies.

Some love sick swain is giving vent to his pent-up emotions by writing his words of tender affection to the idol of his heart in measures of rhyme and publishing them in our city dailies.

Gen. Mart. V. Brown, paid our city a visit last Saturday. Gen. B. was announced as orator for a country school picnic near here, and it is presumed he did his duty like a true soldier.

Charles Bruce Moores, a most deservedly popular young man of our city, returned here to-day, after an absence of nearly three years in the East, where he has been attending a law school. Charley has many friends to welcome him back.

"Mem Linton," formerly one of Oregon's sweetest song writers, is now in Santa Clara, Cal. The harp that has so long been silent, is again tuned in poetry and song. The appearance of her name to some charming verses recently published, is hailed with delight by a host of poetical admirers.

Saturday afternoon a frightful runaway took place. A fiery team slashed down Liberty street with a wagon containing a man, woman and two children. They brought up against a pile of lumber, throwing the occupants out, bruising them considerably, but not seriously. A miraculous escape.

Mr. C. F. Yeaton will leave with his family to-morrow for the Snowden Springs, in Douglas county, where he is to take charge of the hotel recently purchased by Dr. Payton. These springs are known for their wonderful medicinal qualities, and will eventually prove a great resort for health and pleasure seekers.

The ministers of our several churches are denouncing in plain strong language, these Sunday excursions and picnics. A mass meeting is called for this evening at the M. E. church for all those who oppose Sabbath holidays. The speakers are announced, and it remains to be seen whether their labors are successful or not.

A NEW MUSIC TEACHER.

Prof. E. Stebinger, of Sioux City, Iowa, a composer and teacher of vocal and instrumental music, arrived here yesterday, and intends to make Portland his future home. The Professor comes here well recommended. The Sioux City Tribune says of him:

"ADIEU.—Prof. Stebinger has determined to go to Portland, Oregon, and has given up the music class which has been under his instructions in this city. He has ever since he came to Sioux City been recognized as one of the most competent instructors and most accomplished musicians in our midst. He has had charge of a large variety of musical entertainments, in all of which has been manifested a versatility and artistic taste which has gained him the indorsement of those well qualified to judge in such matters. In leaving Sioux City for his new home, he will carry both the regrets and good wishes of a host of friends."

He requests those intending to engage his services to leave orders at either of the different music stores until further notice, where also his latest composition, "The Black Hills March," is laid out for examination.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The Plummer Fruit Dryer is again ready for the farmer, and the manufacturer is again prepared to fill orders. Address, P. O., East Portland.

The attention of the public generally, and of mill and steamboat men particularly, is called to the advertisement of the Salamander Felting Company found in another column. This company is the sole owner and agent for the celebrated "Asbestos Coating for Steam Boilers and Pipes." This coating is a non-conducting composition for coating steam boilers, etc., its object being to prevent the radiation of heat and condensation of steam. This coating, it is claimed, saves from 15 to 30 per cent. in fuel. Being applied while the boilers and pipes are hot it does not interfere with their use. This preparation has been used very extensively throughout the United States with the most satisfactory results. Mr. Ainslie, of this city, has used the coating in connection with his sash and door factory, and finds that it works very advantageously. The coating possesses numerous advantages over any other covering, among which can be enumerated, its cheapness and durability; that it will not crack, crumble or fall off, but expands and contracts with the metal surface; its lightness and elasticity; that it lasts as long as the metal and prevents the latter from oxydizing. Mr. Chas. E. Johnson is the agent for Oregon and Washington Territory. He can be found at the City Hotel, East Portland. He has a very competent and experienced workman, and all orders filled in a satisfactory manner.

THE COURTS.

NOTES FROM ALBANY.

Our regular correspondent sends the following items under date of May 28th:

Sawmills and door factories are all busy.

As yet there is no Catholic church in this city.

Strawberries very abundant in the market this week.

Rather stormy for picnics last week in this vicinity.

Mrs. Peck, niece of Mrs. Denny, died on Saturday last.

The festival at the Opera House last Friday evening was a success.

Messrs. Clach & Davis are busy in their brick yard, as they expect to burn 300,000 brick this season.

Strawberry festival on the evening of the 8th of June, the proceeds to aid in refitting the M. E. church.

Mr. Mullekoff is doing a good business in the pump line, as Albany wooden pumps are at par in this county.

There seems to be no grumbling at the continued rains by the farmers. The crops never looked better than now.

The St. Charles Hotel is being run by our very popular fellow townsman, Mr. Frook, who gives a man the worth of his money.

We understand that Rev. L. A. Banks of Corvallis, will preach in the M. E. Church on next Sabbath morning and evening.

Our city is full of life, as the farmers and strangers throng our streets and spend their extra change in the purchase of goods.

Horse shoeing is in order this week. To give an idea as to the extent of this business, one man says that he put on 5,000 shoes last season.

A certain class of boys in this city find that the marshal means business when he forbids their carrying deadly weapons on the street.

The Indians in this vicinity have had another row among themselves. We suggest that they be sent to some reservation where they will be more likely to observe the rules of propriety.

The State Temperance meeting to be held in this place, will assemble on the 12th of June, at which time a great number of strangers are expected to visit our beautiful city, where we have no doubt they will receive a cordial welcome.

A grand temperance rally for Linn county will be held in the grove near Roberts' bridge on Saturday, the 16th of June, and it is supposed that from one to five thousand may be present. The following are invited to take a part: Rev. Dr. Irvin of Albany, Judge Piper of Albany, Miss Mary Powell of Albany, Rev. I. D. Driver of Brownsville, Prof. Emory of Corvallis, Rev. L. A. Banks of Corvallis, Rev. J. S. McCain of Eugene, Hon. T. Cann of Salem, Mrs. Dr. Thompson of Portland, and Dr. Watts of Yamhill. Prof. L. J. Powell has the honor of planning this enterprise. We shall expect it to be one of the largest, and most successful meetings of the kind ever held in the State of Oregon. A temperance pledge will be circulated during the meeting.

THE PAPYROGRAPH

IS AN EXTRAORDINARY INVENTION FOR printing copies by the thousands from a single autograph writing or drawing. From one writing by this process a thousand permanent fac similes impressions of circulars, price lists, specifications, examination papers, assessment notices, etc., may be printed in an ordinary copying press, upon any description of paper. Copies may be taken direct from the writing without any of the usual operations of inking, rolling, transferring or typesetting. A proof impression may be produced within five minutes after a manuscript has been completed, and be afterwards multiplied at the rate of five hundred an hour, at an infinitesimal cost.

One Thousand Copies

May be produced from a single sheet of Papyrograph Paper, and a single application of color, at an expense of four cents. It possesses over printing the advantages of an Autograph Letter, besides admitting of illustrations without the expense of wood cuts. It allows autograph letters to pass through the mail as third class matter. It is invaluable to any business. It can be seen in operation at the office of the agent for Oregon.

We have reduced by its aid half our former printer's bills. It fully realizes our expectations. BRADLEY & RULOFSON.

We can safely say that in our business it is equivalent to at least three men. HUBBARD BROS.

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 29, 1877.

THE FIRST MAN.

[Bret Harte in the New York Sun.]

Some repairs were needed to the engine when the train reached Reno, and while most of the passengers were taking a philosophical view of the delay and making themselves as comfortable as possible in the depot, in walked a native. He wasn't a native Indian nor a native grizzly, but a native Nevadian, and he was rigged out in important style. He wore a bearskin coat and cap, buckskin leggings and moccasins and in his belt was a big knife and two revolvers. There was lightning in his eye, destruction in his walk, and as he sauntered up to the red-hot stove and scattered tobacco juice over it, a dozen passengers looked pale with fear. Among the passengers was a car painter from Jersey City, and after surveying the native for a moment, he cooly inquired:

"Aren't you afraid you'll fall down and hurt yourself with these weapons?"

"W—what!" gasped the native in astonishment.

"I suppose they sell such outfits as you've got on at auction out here, don't they?" continued the painter.

"W—what d'ye mean—who are ye?" whispered the native, as he walked around the stove and put on a terrible look.

"My name is Logwood," was the calm reply, "and I mean that, if I were you, I'd crawl out of these old duds and put on some decent clothes."

"Don't talk that way to me, or you won't live a minit!" exclaimed the native, as he hopped around.

"Wy, you homesick coyote, I'm Grizzly Dan, the heaviest Indian fighter in the world! I was the first white man to scout for General Crook! I was the first white man in the Black Hills! I was the first white man among the Modocs!"

"I don't believe it?" flatly replied the painter. "You look more like the first white man down to the dinner table!"

The native drew his knife, put it back again, looked around, and then softly asked: "Stranger, will you come over behind the ridge and shoot and slash until this thing is settled?"

"You bet I will!" replied the man from Jersey, as he rose up. "Just pace right out and I'll follow."

Every man in the room jumped to his feet in wild excitement. The native started for the back door, but when he found the car painter at his heels, with a six-barreled Colt in his hand, he halted and said:

"Friend, come to think of it, I don't want to kill you and have your widow come on me for damages."

"Go right ahead—I'm not a married man!" replied the painter.

"But you've got relatives, and I don't want no lawsuits just as spring is coming."

"I'm an orphan, without a relative in the world!" shouted the Jerseyite.

"Well, the law will make me bury you, and it would be a week's work to dig a grave at this season of the year. I think I'll break a rib or two for you, smash your nose, gouge out your left eye, and let it go at that!"

"That suits me to a dot!" said the painter. "Gentlemen, please stand back, and some of you shut the door to the ladies' room."

"I was the first man to attack the grizzly bear with a bowie knife," remarked the native, as he looked around. "I was the first man to discover silver in Nevada. I made the first scout up Powder river. I was the first man to make hunting shirts out of the skins of Pawnee Indians. I don't want to hurt this man, as he seems kinder sad and down hearted, but he must apologize to me."

"I will not do it," said the painter.

"Gentlemen, I never fight without taking off my coat, and I don't see any nail to hang it on," said the native.

"I'll hold it," shouted a dozen voices in chorus.

"And another thing," softly continued the native; "I never fight in a hot room. I used to do it years ago, but I found it was running me into the consumption. I always do my fighting out doors now."

"I'll go out with you now, you old rabbit-killer!" exclaimed the painter, who had his coat off.

"That's another deadly insult to be wiped out in blood, and I see I must finish you. I never fight around a depot, though. I go out on a prairie, where there is a chance to throw myself."

"Where's your prairie—lead the way!" howled the crowd.

"It wouldn't do any good," replied the native, as he leaned against the wall. "I always hold a ten dollar gold piece in my mouth when I fight, and I haven't got one to-day—in fact, I'm dead broke."

"Here's a gold piece!" called a tall man, holding up the metal.

"I'm a thousand times obleeged," mournfully replied the native, shaking his head: "I never go into a fight without putting red paint on the tip of my left ear for luck; and I haven't any red paint by me, and there isn't a bit in Reno."

"Are—you—going—to—fight?" demanded the car painter, reaching out for the bear-skin cap.

"I took a solemn oath when a boy never to fight without painting my left ear," protested the Indian killer. "You wouldn't want me to go back on my solemn oath, would you?"

"You're a cabbage, a squash, a pumpkin dressed up in leggings!" contemptuously remarked the car painter, as he put on his coat.

"Yes, he's a great coward," remarked several others, as he turned away.

"I'll give $10,000 for ten drops of red paint!" shrieked the native. "Oh! why is it that I have no paint for my ear when there is such a chance to go in and kil ?"

A big blacksmith from Illinois took him by the neck and run him out, and he was seen no more for an hour. Just before the train started, and after all had taken seats, the "first man" was seen on the platform. He had another bowieknife and had also put a tomahawk in his belt. There was red paint on his left ear, his eyes rolled, and in a terrible voice he called out:

"Where is that man Logwood? Let him come here and meet his death!"

"Is that you? Count me in!" replied the car painter as he opened the window. He rushed for the door, leaped down, and was pulling off his overcoat again, when the native began to retreat, calling out:

"I'll get my hair cut and be back here in seventeen seconds. I never fight with long hair. I promised my dying mother not to."

When the train rolled away he was seen flourishing his tomahawk around his head in the wildest manner.

NOTES AND FANCIES.

Want of strawberries and cream in life is what helps along suicide.

"Remember the mechanic," howls an exchange. Yes, we remember him. He was a plumber.

It is a painful fact that the Southern papers which denounce the Kemper county assassination are all published outside of Mississippi.

A waiter in a Nevada restaurant turns out to be a Russian count in disguise. He betrayed his identity by one day losing his presence of mind and yelling down the elevator, "Beanski for twooff!"

Ex-Treasurer Spinner is the most successful fisherman in Florida. The secret of his success is said to lie in the fact that he uses his autograph for bait, and the fish imagine it is a new kind of a worm.

William Vanderbilt said to a lessee of one of the railroad eating houses who was paying $6,000 rent: "If you will give up your bar—cease the sale of liquor—I will reduce the rent to $1,500." The offer was accepted.

Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom," otherwise the Rev. Josiah Henson, has made his foreign tour very profitable. After paying the mortgage and interest on his farm and some other debts, he will have a surplus of $10,000.

The richest ladies in America are said to be Miss Catharine Wolf, of New York city, and Mrs. William Gammall, only child of the late Robert H. Ives, of Providence, both of whom have summer residences at Newport, R. I.

The Chicago Times, which will not hesitate to print a story if it is only sensational, says that Mrs. Commodore Vanderbilt will marry a Virginia cousin of hers, who is a young widower, and whom the Commodore cut out.

A man who hanged himself in Nevada left a letter to a friend, in which he said: "I advise you earnestly to follow my example. You ought to know you are too mean to live. The world would be better without you, and it is your duty to die, and leave more room for better men." The friend says that he has no intention of following the advice.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

MONDAY EVENING, May 28, 1877.

Gold in New York, 106⅞.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 93¼; selling, 94¼.

Silver Coin—1@5 per cent. discount.

There is some improvement noticeable in business matters, and the prospect is regarded as possessing much of promise for the future. The supply of money is ample to meet the demand of legitimate trade, and there being a marked absence of the spirit of speculation, the volume of transactions is not so large, nor the market so active as may have been the case in other seasons, but the condition is one indicative of a soundness in trade and a healthy, if it be a slow growth.

The news from San Francisco of a financial and business character shows some more life in trade, though as yet the movements are not extensive except in the staple of wool, the growers in California being now nearly through shearing. Money appears to be plentiful, and as mining stocks are no more seductive in their promises a good deal of capital there which has been used altogether in that channel is seeking investment in other directions. The past few weeks have greatly improved the crop prospects there, and shippers are beginning to look around for vessels to such an extent that freights have been marked up from 2 to 5s per ton on vessels for loading with the new crop.

Our Eastern exchanges do not give a very flattering account of the general condition of business on the other side of the Rocky Mountains. The rapid advance in the price of breadstuffs did more to discourage and burden the poor laborer and mechanic than to stimulate the manufacturer to increase the number of his hands or extend his business. The good times come slowly, but commercial journals still predict that they are approaching, and conclude that if all have had a wise lesson impressed upon the tablets of memory by the stingency of the 80 month's beginning with the panic of 1873, then will every improvement of business be appreciated, but the gains for the future be more permanently secured.

Wheat Market and Crops.

The first business day of the week develops nothing essentially new or important in this department of trade. Through the various fluctuations which have occurred in wheat since last harvest a few farmers have still all or a part of their surplus, and an occasional lot still finds its way to this market, but meets with a much diminished demand from that which prevailed a month or six weeks ago. It is now claimed that the highest prices of April were forced beyond the exigencies of the occasion, both here and in San Francisco, causing the grain trade to relapse into a small hand to mouth traffic. The Commercial Herald of the 24th says of the condition of trade and the crop in California:

Wheat and barley harvest has commenced in many parts of the State, but as yet no engagement for the new crop have been made public. Prices of both kinds are even now far above the views of shippers and millers, while farmers have not yet made up their minds as to the true value thereof. The brief rule of war prices at the close of April was quite sufficient to cause anxious hopes and expectations by producers that extreme rates for breadstuffs were to prevail during the harvest year of 77-78, to atone in some good degree for the half crop of wheat now about to be harvested. But thus far the course of the English market has been an enigma—a surprise to all. The weather of late has been favorable to the crops, and we are hopeful as to the future. Our interior exchanges lead us to expect a better crop yield than many had predicted or dared to hope for.

In our own State the harvest is yet many weeks in the future, but up to this time all signs affecting it are most propitious, and with few or no exceptions, its abundance is regarded as assured. The reports that reach us from all parts of the State and Washington Territory are invariably flattering and should anything possibly occur to reduce the yield below 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bushels more than the State and Territory ever produced before, the disappointment will be very general, for all present predictions place the product fully up to those figures.

The question of freights is beginning to attract a good deal of attention both among the large producers and dealers in grain. During the recent rise in wheat, freights from this coast were unusually low, and with a very considerable amount of disengaged tonnage in the port of San Francisco, not a single vessel has cleared from that port for Europe for a whole month past, something which has not happened before for a long time. The last one to leave Oregon was the ship Prussia, loaded in March. No others are likely to load until the new crop comes in in California. Freights as noticed elsewhere have very recently taken a livelier turn, and appearances indicate that shipowners are preparing to capture their full share of the profits upon the crop from this coast. We would be glad to know that Oregon's coming crop would be carried at the prices now prevailing; but the late rise in charters and the prospect of a greater surplus in California than was anticipated until very recently, leads us to fear that shippers may have to pay a higher rate.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS OF DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

In the Treatment of Chronic Disease.

Positive Proof of his Wonderful Skill.

Testimony that Cannot be Contradicted.

Reliable Witnesses Testifying What he has Done for Them.

Perfect Cures where all other Treatment had Failed.

Crowds Coming from all Parts of the Country to Visit Him.

The Following Certificates Speak for Themselves:

TO DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—

For the past year and a half I have been suffering from Nervous and General Debility, Kidney Disease, Loss of Flesh and Strength, dizziness in the head and a constant pain through the back and loins. I became so debilitated and broken down that I was unfitted for business. I have been to Victoria and all over the coast under medical treatment for the past nine months, without receiving any benefit whatever, and had almost given up hopes of ever recovering, until I came under your treatment, about seven weeks ago. From the very first your treatment seemed to work like a charm, and I constantly improved from the beginning. I have gained 11 pounds of flesh, and I am now, thanks to your skillful treatment, perfectly well, and am able to return to my business on the Snohomish. JAMES KING.

Seattle, March 31, 1877.

To the People: I have been troubled with chronic Nasal Catarrh for years, the disease being so aggravated that there was constantly an effusion of matter passing down into my throat behind the pallate and down through my nostrils.

My nose became depressed between the eyes and swollen on each side. I was told by physicians that it was a polypus: that some of the blood vessels were involved and that the removal would endanger my life by hemorrhage. I became so bad that I made up my mind that I must have immediate relief or die.

As a last resort I applied to Dr. Paul M. Brenan, who, after a moment's examination, determined what to do. He said the nasal bone was involved and diseased, and that there would have to be a portion of it removed. He at once removed the bone tumor containing the ulcer; also the diseased portion of bone and patuculary gland and cured the catarrh. I am now perfectly well and as free from disease as ever I was in my life. THOMAS D. MURPHY.

Seattle, April 5th, 1877.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in stating for the benefit of those who are afflicted with any chronic disease, that I am now a well man. For the past two years I have been under the medical treatment of different physicians, from which I have received no benefit. I have been suffering with general and nervous debility, a difficulty in my stomach, and at times dizziness and severe headache, almost incapacitating me for work. About three weeks ago I put myself under your care, and I can say with delight that I am cured and feel like myself again, after having partaken of your skillful treatment. To me now, labor seems a pleasure. I say this much, hoping it will be the means of attracting the suffering to you who can relieve and cure them.

Your's Truly, JOHN BALLARD, Employed at Colman's Saw Mill, Seattle.

[I will not publish any cures performed by me unless by the full consent of the parties.] PAUL M. BRENAN.

Dr. Brenan can be consulted, free of charge, at his office at the Clarenden Hotel, from 10 to 12 A. M., and at rooms 6 and 7 in Corbett's Block, corner of Front and Washington streets, Portland, Oregon, from 1:30 to 5, and 7 to 8 P. M.

GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Fraud in Railway Bonds Alleged

CHICAGO, May 29.—It has transpired late Saturday afternoon F. E. Hinckley, [p]resident of the Chicago and Paducah, [Ill]inois and Iowa, and other roads, was arrested on a charge of conspiracy to defraud, and under $50,000 bonds. Complaint is made by Mr. Fisher, of London, a wealthy [En]glishman, and a heavy stock[holder] in the Chicago and Paducah, [who] represents about a million dollars of bo[nds on] their road. He alleges that Hinckley w[ent to] England in 1873 and by means of false [repre]sentations concerning the amount alrea[dy in]vested in the road, the aid it would r[eceive] from counties and the returns brought [se]cured £180,000 in return for bonds. H[e] states the whole railroad transaction ha[s been] honorable throughout, and that this ar[rest is] merely a blackmailing scheme which w[ill not] work.

Foolhardiness.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., May 29.—The s[loop] New Bedford, 20 feet long, with C[apt.] Thomas Crapo and his wife on board, [sailed] to-day for London. An immense crow[d wit]nessed the departure of the boat which [is the] smallest that has ever attempted the fe[at].

Oil Boat Burned.

NEW YORK, May 29.—A lighter lade[n with] petroleum was burned at the foot of 41s[t street] this afternoon. Two men are reporte[d lost] and one badly scalded.

Money and Stocks.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Silver bars 125; [green]backs, 117⅞ gold; silver coin ¼ discount; closed 6½; money, 1½@2; governments closed; stocks opened weak and lower; recove[red in] the afternoon; closed firm; Western [Union] 63½; Quicksilver, 14½; Pacific Mail, [18]; Mariposa, 2; Wells Fargo, 83; New [York] Central, 91½; Erie, 6½; Panama 96; [Union] Pacific, 68½; bonds, 107⅞; Central [Pacific] bonds, 110.

Harper's Condition.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Fletcher [Harper] was sinking fast at two this morning.

Wrecking of the City of San Fran[cisco].

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Graphic sa[ys the] steamship San Francisco ran upon an unk[nown] rock on the northern coast of Californ[ia and] was a total loss. The passengers hav[e been] taken to Acapulco and will be forwa[rded to] San Francisco by next steamer.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The following di[spatch] relative to the loss of the P. M. steam[er City] of San Francisco was received to-day:

ACAPULCO, May 18, VIA CITY OF MEX[ICO,] May 24, 1877.

To W. P. CLYDE, President of the P. M. S. [S. Co.:] The City of San Francisco in lat. 16° 6' nor[th,] long. 45° 36' west, struck an unknown roc[k on the] 16th, at 9:18 A. M., on a bright clear day; su[nk and] became a total loss in one hour and two m[inutes.] No lives lost. Passengers arrived at Acapu[lco next] day in the Mexican gunboat Mexico, and le[ft for] San Francisco in the Costa Rica, the 20th ins[t.]

A. ROSEMAN, Agent P. M. S. S. Co.
JAS. W. WADDELL, commander.

Theories of the Wreck.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The World [sa]ys in relation to the loss of the steamer San [Fran]cisco: At the meeting of the Board o[f Di]rectors of the Company yesterday, con[sider]able doubt was thrown upon the authe[nticity] of the dispatch. The Directors went [into a] thorough examination of the whole st[ory by] help of maps and charts. In the first [place,] Clyde calculated the steamer would no[t] be on May 16th, several hundred miles [from] the spot indicated as that in which the [disas]ter occurred. Again, the story was cons[idered] a little too elaborate. A Director disc[ussed] the matter at his house last night, [saying] "How is it that with the dispatch fro[m the] Captain, there came none to any of the [friends] of the passengers. There have been n[one of] them inquiring at the office to-day; the[refore] the passengers sent no messages here. [The] theory is that the report was concocted [in the] city, and some one sent it to Mexico to [have] it brought out just in time to influen[ce the] election that is to come off to-morrow. [It is] probable that the old ticket will be re-e[lected] with the exception of taking Hoyt [of the] Pennsylvania Coal Co., into the board. [The] following theory was propounded amo[ng the] Directors: That stock jobbers woul[d] need to send a man to the City of Mexi[co to] tell him to have a Mexican make a littl[e out] of the city and then come into the c[ity] office with a forged dispatch and p[ay] him to endorse it as coming from Aca[pulco] and it would come here as genuine.

A St. Louis Enterprise.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—A project is on fo[ot] to open a direct grain trade with Live[rpool.] The plan is to center here the Elevato[r and] Mississippi Valley Barge Co. and ocean [steam]ers to pool their risks by a combinatio[n to] send cargoes of grain, especially corn, [from] New Orleans through jetties to Liverpoo[l and] other European ports. The prospec[t is the] plan will soon be carried into effect. A[n] steamship company has already named [the] large grain-carrying steamers, which [will be] put on berth as fast as cargoes are read[y].

Rise in the Missouri.

OMAHA, May 29.—It is feared that th[e river] which is rising rapidly, will cut a c[hannel] across the bend and carry away the [east] bottom above the bridge.

Mexican Murderers.

GALVESTON, May 29.—The News' [Corpus] Christi says Francisco G. Flores, a pro[minent] citizen of San Diego, and his son, [were] murdered by eight Mexican robbers, [for] $700. The same party have committe[d other] robberies and the whole country is [in arms after] them.

Pacific Mail Down.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Pacific Mail sold to-day from 22⅞ down to 19½, on [the re]ported loss of the steamer City of San [Fran]cisco, which, it is reported, struck a [sunken] rock off the Mexican coast on the 16th and is a total loss; crew and passengers [saved.] There was besides a decline all around, [due] to brokers of Twenty-third street, wh[o have] been bulls, having suddenly become [bears,] and to a report that President Scott [of Texas] Pacific had declined to withdraw [his] trains, besides reports from Washington [of] intended contraction. Secretary She[rman's] plans are, as far as known, not general[ly ap]proved. He was called on by some to [explain] his policy clearly.

Fast Trains Off.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Late in the day [a tel]egram was received from President [Scott] saying the trouble in the West is und[erstood] to have ceased, and that the fast trains [will be] taken off and a reduction of rates occur.

Negroes Lynched.

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 28.—Three negro[es were] lynched Friday for the murder of Mrs. Chambless, of Stewart county. Th[ey at]tempted to rob the house and were resi[sted by] Mrs. Chambless, when she was shot[.] The murderers were hanged with [a] chain. Negroes participated in the ly[nching].

The Chester Disaster.

CHESTER, Pa., May 29.—The jury in t[he case] of the Saratoga launch disaster, rend[ered a] verdict to-night. The jury find the de[aths of] seven victims have been accidental. T[he ver]dict was accompanied by a statemen[t that] while they believe from the evidence t[hat] customary precautions for the prevent[ion of] accident to the men employed in this in[stance] were taken, they are of the opinion tha[t more] ample means should be provided for th[e launch]ing of the ship and for immediate esca[pe].

South Carolina Repudiation.

COLUMBIA, May 29.—The Senate struck out the fifth section of the Ho[use ap]propriation bill which provided $270,[000 for] payment of interest on the bonded deb[t of the] State.

Northern Lights.

BOSTON, May 29.—The display of the [aurora] borealis to-night was the most brillia[nt in] years.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 29.—The most [exten]sive displays of aurora borealis to-nigh[t ever] seen in this section. The atmosphere [was] strongly impregnated with electricit[y and] communication was kept up for so[me time] with New York, Boston and Montrea[l].
